✓ Report of UGC Sponsored Two Day National Level Seminar on ‘Impact of Economics Reforms on Indian Economy’ held on 5th and 6th October 2012:

Prof. Dr. N. D. Patil Mahavidyalaya, Malkapur is located at Shahuwadi Taluka which belongs to hilly and remote region of Western Maharashtra. It is generally agreed in Studies on Indian economy that the Process of economy reforms was initiated in India by the government of P. V. Narasimha Rao in 1991 with the announcement of a number of measures for liberalizing the economy by the then finance minister Manmohan Singh. This new economic policy had moved the Indian economy toward increased outward and inward competition by the end of 1980. It is precisely because of this reason that in most of the studies on Indian economy. The process of economic reform is assumed to have started in 1991. Our college has taken an initiative to address the issues related to Economic Reforms and Indian Economy by organizing two day national level seminar entitled ‘Impact of Economics Reforms on Indian Economy’.

- ✓ Report UGC Sponsored Two Day National Level Seminar on ‘Challenges before Small Scale and Cottage Industries in the Era of Globalization’ held on 3rd and 4th October 2012

Prof. Dr. N.D. Patil Mahavidyalaya, Malkapur is located at Shahuwadi Taluka which belongs to hilly and remote region of Western Maharashtra. Kolhapur district plays an important role for the development of small scale and cottage industries as there have been a large number of small scale units which have been functioning in the district. These units not only provide employment opportunities to the people of the region but also contribute in the foreign trade and export. Specifically, jaggery industry, Kolhapuri foot-ware industry, foundries, power loom industry and other small scale industries have been playing a pivotal role in the development of Kolhapur district. However, since 1991, the small scale and cottage industries in different regions of India in general and in Kolhapur in particular has been largely influenced by the global economic forces. Keeping this view in mind, our college has taken an initiative to address the issues related to small scale and cottage industries by organizing two day national level seminar entitled ‘Challenges before Small Scale and Cottage Industries in the Era of Globalization’.

Objectives of the Seminar:

- ✓ To identify the role of small scale and cottage industries since 1991 in India.
